IMMIGRATION LAW

Course Number: IRTS 7013 001  Call Number: 000066

Semester: Spring 2015
Professor: Zayas-Davis
Credits: 3 classroom

Basis for the Grade: Exam; assignments/projects; and classroom participation; Letter grade

Prerequisites: None

Enrollment: Open

Meets Seminar Requirement? No

Meets Writing Requirement? No

Meets Client Counseling Requirement? No

Meeting Time: W 4:00pm to 6:55pm

Location: 302

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Immigration issues present politically charged questions at both the governmental and community level. Our immigration laws reflect the way in which the United States views our international, humanitarian obligations and our place in a global community.

This course is designed to provide a comprehensive background in United States immigration law in both a theoretical and practical framework. It will examine the various categories of visas, asylum, the routes to permanent residence and citizenship as well as the requirements for entering as well as removal from the United States. Projects and classroom discussions will explore the role that underlying policies and values play in the immigration law landscape, and how considerations outside of immigration law play into resolving specific immigration issues.

Updated: 11-6-14 cd